I remember waking up on a marijuana & cotton plantation. Not your ordinary farm by any means necessary. Naked, Hungry, Sexually Abused, and Emotionally Neglected I armed myself with a double-barrel shotgun, an automatic gun, a pistol, and mounted my horse. As I began to ride off into the distant far-east sunset, I noticed her silhouette.

Clothed in white robes, gazing at me with heterochromia eyes, golden-blond hair, and white skin; she asked me for permission to hitch a ride. After a long night of interrogations, I motioned her for more discovery. As the story unfolds she too was interested in attending a university, for some sort of higher education. Similar to my previous wife-lover, a romance story that never reaches level four (KKKK).

However, these days, her hair color is bright orange-red and her moonlight eyes shine like diamonds. Freckles scatter her face like palm trees in a desert oasis and as if I were stupid she won't speak in our native tongue (American). Frequent optical illusions of grandeur and mirages of wealth & luxury are all I can possibly imagine by her side. Her brand-spanking-new name is: Nathan-Beckford-Forest; and she's already tied the knot in a polygamous series of divorce with the infamous Jim Crow

...Otherwise back at the office in corporate downtown franchise and marketing exclusive brick-n-mortar retail store location, I got high for the first time on narcotics and absinthe. I resulted to masturbation again and was forced into ecstasy while orgasming. Needless to point out the obvious I was high and quite frankly, enjoying sex.
